

CELEBRATORS

Hoping The wishbone
snaps in your favor
This Thanksgiving!

ANNUAL BLOOD DRIVE – The Executive Committee is looking for some new blood. We are now accepting nominations from anyone who would like to “throw their hat (or the hat of a friend!) into the ring” and accept a position on the Board. Four of the five Officer positions are up for election in December: President, Secretary, Treasurer and Membership Director. We’ve been asking around (begging may be a bit more like it...) for the last several months, but so far we’ve not gotten any takers. I know you’re reading this thinking, “But the Officers we have are doing such a great job!” While this is true, at least one of these volunteers has been in the position for 10 years. Talk about dedication! The time commitment is minimal and you won’t be flying by the seat of your pants. Newly elected officers will have the full support of the current Board to help with the transition. It’s time for a transfusion! We could use some new blood in our ranks. Please consider donating some of yours (we won’t need the sweat and tears...).

COMING SOON... - Reminder! November marks the start of the holiday season. Our activities begin this month with a trip to the Festival of Trees at the Orlando Museum of Art. In December, we’ll visit the ICE and Cirque show at the Gaylord Palms, meet for a special lunch at the Wilderness Lodge and finally, celebrate the season at a “Whoville Holiday Party”. More details on these and other events in our Weekly Update. Make your reservations NOW!

LET’S TALK TURKEY - Thanksgiving is commonly associated with eating turkey, however, no turkey was eaten at the first Thanksgiving celebration in Plymouth. For that matter, neither was pumpkin pie. Duck, venison stew and seafood (most likely mussels) were likely part of the main course. Add a side of stewed cabbage, onions, or squash and your dinner would be complete. It’s possible that dessert consisted of ground up corn which made sort of corn-based oatmeal sweetened with molasses. BURP! •
